REWARD IS OFFERED WARNING IS GIVEN FOR ASSAILANT OF IKE COX

La Plata County, Colo., Commissioners Will Give $750 for Apprehension of Man Who Shot Ranchman.

Special Correspondence to the Herald
Durango, Colo., June 14.—The commissioners have offered a reward of $750 for the arrest and conviction of the unknown assailant who shot and seriously wounded Ike Cox, the well-known ranchman of this city. The announcement is as follows:

Whereas, L. H. Cox was shot and severely wounded in the city of Durango, Colo., by a person unknown, and,

Whereas, it appearing in the board of county commissioners of La Plata County, Colorado, to permit such violations of the law to go unpunished is a serious menace to the public good and welfare of the community;

Therefore, in view of the fact that the board of county commissioners of La Plata County, Colorado, that a reward of $750 is and is hereby offered by said La Plata County for the arrest and conviction of the person or persons who shot said L. H. Cox, in the city of Durango, Colo., on the 5th day of June, 1911;

Approved June 10, 1911.
H. R. SCOUTEN, Chairman.

A good deal of mystery surrounds the shooting affair which occurred in Durango a week ago Monday night. Cox was under bond for the killing of William Truly, which he declared was in self-defense. Officers of the police had Cox in charge when he was shot down from the back; it is alleged, by some one of the Truly family. The killer was not very active in getting after the assailant, and it is alleged he was in an ice cream parlor with one of the Truly family at the time of the shooting. A posse is now searching for the would-be murderer.

WARNING IS GIVEN AGAINST BLIGHT

Biological Department of Experiment Station at Mesilla Park Finds Apple and Pear Blight Spreading in N. M.

Agricultural College, N. M., June 13.—The experiment station at the Agricultural College has issued the following bulletin warning orchardists against the spread of apple and pear blight, which is threatening the fruit trees of the territory:

During the past few weeks several specimens of blighted twigs of apple and pear trees have been received by the department of horticulture which show that the blighted condition of the above mentioned varieties of trees is becoming more or less general throughout the territory.

The symptoms of the Pear blight, which is caused by the bacteria amylovorus (Harr. Treve), are as follows: Within three to six weeks after fertilization of the flower has taken place the young twigs and tips of the branches may begin to wilt and show signs of general blackening, resulting finally in complete blackening and death of all the branches and twigs affected. The infection usually takes place at the time of blossoming and the disease is usually most abundant quarantined at that time. In the course of time under favorable conditions, a whole branch or tree may be killed as the disease progresses. Young fruits of both the apple and pear, an inch in diameter, are often affected, the rapid growth of the organism gorges the fruit with slime which may exude in droplets.

The progress of the disease is often clearly shown by the condition of the bark. Within the diseased area the tissues of the bark have water-soaked appearance and finally blacken and shrivel. Often one side of a limb will be badly affected while the other side will be perfectly sound to all appearances. In many instances the bark is broken and from the ruptured areas there are exuded droplets of a gummy nature varying in color from white through brown to black.

The only really satisfactory method of controlling the blight is by cutting out and burning every particle of the diseased tissue. The orchardist should not stop short of absolute extermination in every case, for a few trees overlooked may prove the ruin of his entire orchard. In every case it is necessary to cut well below any external evidence of the disease. To avoid spreading the infection, in case the pruning tools accidentally cut into the diseased tissue, the cutting blade should each time be disinfected by wiping it with a cloth saturated with a strong solution of corrosive sublimate (one part to four parts of water).

If the wound made by the incision is large it should be disinfected with the sublimate solution. Use particular care to remove and burn all the diseased portions.

Any diseased material sent the station for identification will be carefully examined and a report sent upon request.

ALAMO PROJECT IS NOW APPROVED

Territorial Engineer Passes Upon Irrigation Scheme Proposed to Water 90,000 Acres.

Special Correspondence to the Herald

Port Sumner, N. M., June 13.—Extensive preparations are being made here to have a Fourth of July celebration, the principal attraction of which will be a basket picnic in one of the big cottonwood groves on the bank of the Pecos river, located near the city. The towns of Chaves, Melrose, Taiban and Tular will co-operate in making the celebration at Port Sumner a success, as these towns have no trees and the people are hungry for an outing in the shade. Free convenience for the visitors to and from the depot and grounds has been provided.

Territorial Engineer Charles D. Miller, who has been here for several days inspecting the Alamo project, left for Roswell yesterday after making a thorough inspection of the dam site, proposed canal and character and extent of the land to be irrigated. He expressed himself as being well pleased with the proposition and will no doubt grant such water rights as are necessary to carry the project to a successful termination. After the preliminary steps have been taken it is expected that work will begin immediately, in which event it is said that 500 men and teams will be put to work. The dam at the Alamo reservoir which will be located north of town will be 110 feet high and the land to be brought under cultivation will cover approximately 50,000 acres. It is also stated that the Mexican interests and the territory are in which event it will be the largest of the kind in the territory. A branch line is to be run from this city to the site, and also extended to the gravel pits and rock quarries, where some of the material for the construction of the dam will be obtained. The people of Port Sumner are very enthusiastic over the prospects of the beginning of early work on the project and already the price of land to be brought under the proposed ditch has greatly enhanced in value. The reservoir when completed will back water for a distance of nine miles at an average width of half a mile, and the main ditches will be about 29 miles in length.
